...so Mary will take up nursing after all

IT LOOKED for a while as if a temporary financial problem in the family might keep Mary from finishing "High". If she had to quit school to help the family income that would have meant good-bye to her hopes of becoming a nurse.

But here she is, starting her final year. Did her Dad suddenly come into some money?

No... and yes. He consulted his bank manager, who told him how the bank, through personal loans, often helped people to meet just such situations. Arrangements were made, and now Mary will take up nursing after all.

In 1946 Canada's banks made half a million personal loans to Canadian men and women.

THIS IS ONE INSTANCE of how Canada's 3,200 branch banks play their part in the daily life and work of Canadians.

A Benefit To Agriculture

THE WORK OF THE United Nations Organization is overshadowed a great deal of the time by spectacular news from all over the world, but although it does not always occupy public attention it is interesting to know that work is going steadily forward to accomplish the purposes laid down when the organization was formed. Of particular interest to the people here is the activity of the Food and Agriculture Organization since much of its work is connected with the improvement of methods of farming, the more efficient distribution of agricultural products and other related matters. Of wide interest to people in the West was the recent appointment of Dr. L. E. Kirk, dean of agriculture at the University of Saskatchewan, as head of the plant industry branch of the agricultural division of the F.A.O.

Hopes To Raise Living Levels

The main objective of the Food and Agriculture Organization is to raise the standard of living in countries where the population lives for the most part at starvation level, and to help them to improve and increase their food production. One of the problems to be dealt with under Dr. Kirk's direction will be concerned with the preservation and storage of food. It is estimated that over one-half of the food which is put on the market is lost because of poor storage facilities. If this loss could be overcome it would be a big factor in increasing the world food supply. Dr. Kirk will also deal with problems of pests and insect plagues, such as grasshoppers, which may attack crops to the extent of seriously affecting the production of important foods.

Will Attempt Pest Control

Another important branch of Dr. Kirk's work will be concerned with the creation of a central source which will give out information concerning valuable genetic stocks of animals and plants throughout the world. Means will also be sought of ensuring that such stock will be preserved and be always available to farmers of any country associated in the U.N.O. In carrying out such work Dr. Kirk will be performing a valuable service to agriculture throughout the world, and it is gratifying to know that an official of one of our Western Canadian universities was selected for this important position.

British Total Army Strength At 108,000

LONDON.—Britain's regular army has increased by 9,000 men since last December, John Freeman, financial secretary to the War Office, told the House of Commons.

Voluntary recruitment had been at a rate of about 3,600 in April and 3,400 in May. Total strength now is 108,000, he said.

CASHIER REFUSED TO BELIEVE BANDIT

SANTA MONICA, Cal.—"This is a holdup," said a gruff voice outside the movie ticket window.

"Are you kidding?" laughed Wanda June Phillips, the cashier in front of the gun's muzzle. "Move on, you're holding up the line."

The would-be bandit fled, but the next man in line pursued, collared him and called the police.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

We still think the prize comment about the power of atomic energy goes to the wide-eyed girl who exclaimed: "Gee they ought to be careful what they do with that stuff. It's dynamite!"

The prodigal son had returned. "Father," he inquired, "are you going to kill the fatted calf?" "No," answered the old man, looking the youth over carefully. "No, I'll let you live. But I'll put you to work and train a lot of that fat off."

"Sure, the list price of the dinner is $2," said the waiter blandly to the new-car salesman, "but the flowers on the table bring it to $3.75."

Hotel bell boy: "Telegram for Mr. Neidspondiavanci! Mr. Neidspondiavanci! Telegram for Mr. Neidspondiavanci!"

Man sitting in the lobby: "What is the initial, please?"

Gloria: "Was your uncle's mind vigorous and sane to the last?" Harold: "I don't know. The will won't be read until tomorrow."

"Here, Auntie," said the returned soldier, "is a franc I brought you from Paris as a souvenir."

"Thank you," said the dear old lady, "but I wish you would have brought me one of those Latin quarters I read so much about."

Government Examiner — "How did you come to mark this man's paper 101 per cent? Don't you know that nothing can be more perfect than 100 per cent?"

New Assistant—"Yes, but this man answered one question we didn't ask."

Voice from rear seat of taxi—"I say, driver, what's the idea of stopping?"

Driver—"I thought I heard somebody tell me to stop."

Rear Seat—"Drive on, buddy! She wasn't talking to you."

The Mrs.: "Mary, we have breakfast promptly at 8 o'clock."

New maid: "All right, mum, but if I ain't down don't wait for me."

Willie: "Can't you give me another name, mother?" Mother: "Why?"

"My teacher is always saying she will keep me after school as sure as my name is Willie."

"So you met your wife at a dance; wasn't that romantic?" "No, it was embarrassing. I thought she was home minding the kids!"

The priest called on an elderly Irish woman. "And how are you today, Bridget?" asked he. "I'm bad enough, father," she replied. "I've the pain in me arms and the pain in me legs. And I've only two teeth in the whole of me head; but, thanks to God, they're opposite." 2735

Mountain Climber Rescued After Ordeal Of Thirteen Hours

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Cal.—A mountain climber, both his legs broken in a fall which left him dangling at the end of his rope, was rescued by 13 park rangers who brought him down the steep sides of Upper Cathedral Spire after a tense 13-hour ordeal.

At Baxter, San Francisco, the climber, was some 300 feet up the precipitous side of the spire when he lost his footing and fell 40 feet. He was suspended in the air, with the rope around the waists of his two companions. Both his legs were broken when he struck a ledge in the fall.

The other two climbers, Ulf Ramm-Ericson, of Stockholm, and Larry Taylor, of Oakland, managed to get Baxter down the cliff about 220 feet. There, another party of climbers who had scaled Lower Cathedral Spire, saw their plight and sent for the rangers.

The rangers reached the Baxter party about twilight. The slow, difficult task of getting the injured man down the remaining 2,000 feet of dangerous rock slope, made more hazardous by the darkness, was not completed until 12.30 a.m. next day.

In the process, two rangers were slightly injured.

Device For Mowers Conserves Wild Life

Gladly Used By Many Farmers To Protect Nests

Many farmers have gladly adopted an inexpensive device on their mowing machines that saves uncounted birds and their nests. A bar is so attached that it flushes the birds which have their nests on the ground. The operator sees the bird fly up; he raises the cutter bar for a few feet. This leaves the nest unharmed and protected by a small area of grass. If you see these "islands of hay" in fields and meadows, it is proof of the growing movement for conservation of wild life resources; and the appreciation of the farmer for his friends.

THE WORLD'S LANGUAGES

Almost 3,500 languages and dialects are spoken in the world. There are 100 separate modes of speech in Africa, 130 in India, 87 in the Philippine Islands, 46 in Europe, and, as is frequently stated, "42 languages are heard in the streets of Jerusalem."

The growth of the English language is remarkable. It is the language of 250,000,000 persons, and a further 6,000,000 are able to use it sufficiently for business purposes.

There are over 250,000 species of insects known today.

May Pay Back Compulsory Savings By 1949

OTTAWA. — Canadian taxpayers who have been looking forward to getting back from the Government $261,000,000 worth of wartime "compulsory savings", may get their money sooner than they expected—in two years instead of three.

As it stands, the Government owes the following amounts.

$261,000,000 to personal income taxpayers.

$259,196,000 to excess profits taxpayers.

Hon. Douglas Abbott, Minister of Finance, during discussion of his departmental estimates in the House of Commons, said he would make no promises, but he could see advantages in paying back all that was owed in two payments instead of three, as was originally provided for. This would mean that the debt would be paid by 1949 instead of 1950.

The Government, he said, would consider this idea.

For personal income taxpayers, the money they have owing to them ranges from less than one dollar to several hundred dollars, and the present plan is that the first instalment, amounting to $58,000,000 will be paid back by cheque before March 31, 1948.

The second payment, amounting to $135,000,000, is due before March 31, 1949, and the third payment of $72,000,000 must be paid before March 31, 1950.

These three payments will be for "compulsory savings" chargeable to 1942, 1943, and 1944, which was the last year that this enforced savings system was in effect.

One of the main administrative problems, Mr. Abbott said, was that in the first planned repayment alone there were some 15,000 cheques for amounts of less than one dollar.

CATTLE TRAVELLING IN REAL COMFORT

Cattle cars are becoming as comfortable, almost, as Pullmans. At any rate, they now have anti-friction roller-bearing journal boxes and the latest sorts of spring under-frames and air brakes, and they make it possible to cut the former travel time from range to market in half. That is as it should be. Nothing can be too good for the gentle creatures that provide us with beefsteak, if and when we can afford it.

Thirty-five pounds of smokeless powder can be made from the nine quarts of anti-freeze mixture used by the average automobile in a winter.

New Canadian Invented Radar Device Best In World

OTTAWA.—Canada's national research council has developed a radar distance-reading meter which "very convincingly outperformed foreign devices in open competition," it was disclosed in the NRC report tabled in the Commons.

The mechanism allows an aircraft or marine pilot to read off his distance in miles from a pre-determined ground point. Previously, radar operators had to compute their distance from various information given by the radar equipment. The new meter gives the mileage directly.

WORLD HAPPENINGS

BRIEFLY TOLD

All British troops will be out of India by Christmas, informed quarters in London predicted.

An orange bejewelled Easter egg made for Tsar Nicholas II was sold at Southbys auction rooms in London for £1,650 ($6,600).

Fifteen village children were either drowned or were missing when they were caught in a flood during a recent storm in Southern Slovakia.

During the past two years, Italy has purchased from Canada goods valued at $110,000,000 and now ranks as the country's third-best customer in Europe.

Bread rationing, introduced in Britain a year ago, cut down flour consumption by an average of 10 per cent., Food Minister Strachey said in the commons.

Barbara Sadowska Beutiful, 26-year-old Polish girl leader of an alleged spy group in Poland, has been sentenced to nine years' imprisonment by Warsaw military court.

The centuries-old House of the Props, a show place and artists' model, at Polperro, Cornwall, England, is to be turned into flats because of the housing shortage.

The world's largest plow, now in use on a Texas farm, weighs ten tons, is 60 feet wide and cuts 88 furrows. Drawn by an 85-horsepower tractor, it can till 17 acres in an hour.

At Bath, England, authorities gave 80-year-old Selina Blunt her house back after she had squatted 24 hours on the doorstep in protest against it being requisitioned without her knowledge.

CITY AND FARM PEOPLE

Gap In Understanding

"What are you going to do this summer?" a retired farmer friend of ours asked the high school son of a friend of his, as he grasped the arm of a fine husky boy of 17.

"Well, I hoped to be a caddy at Jasper, but nothing doing. The trouble is I'm not 18 so I am trying to get a job in a broker's office."

"Why a broker's office? Why don't you take that good muscle to a farm and make it even better, and at the same time help the farmer to produce food?" our friend asked.

"Well, Mom and Dad are afraid I wouldn't be properly fed and housed on a farm."

What ignorance! The good farm homes of Canada excel the best city homes in the quality of the food and in the excellence of the personal care given the household. Canadian city parents who do not know that their sons would be improved vastly, physically and mentally, by a summer of outdoor work, fresh, superlatively-cooked foods, and sound sleep, are not aware of how best to complete the education of their children.

The greatest lack in the development of Canadian youth is the simple discipline of work with nature. Any Canadian city family that does not know personally a half-dozen fine farm families, in whose homes the food and personal care is equal to or better than in their own, should get out in the country and get acquainted. The growing gap in understanding between the farm and city people of Canada is the basic cause of the economic inequities which are resulting in an abnormal reduction in farm population, and the less-than-potential production of food in a world which food alone can save. — The Scene, From Shingwauk Farm.

BEES TOOK OVER STREET, REFUSED TO PERMIT TRAFFIC

EASTON, Pa.—A swarm of about 6,500 bees recently took over a block of Lehigh street and refused to permit traffic to pass until they had been killed with DDT spray.

The bees, buzzing angrily whenever any brave Eastonite attempted to traverse the street, swarmed over sidewalks and buildings until residents of the block were forced to close their doors and windows, despite the intense heat.

On Amusements

A town that never has anything in the way of public amusements is well on the way to the cemetery. Anyone who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. The man that will curse his town is furnishing the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business affairs to give to town affairs is furnishing the shroud. The businessman who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from any public enterprise is throwing bouquets on the grave. The man who is stingy and so selfish as to be always howling hard times preaches the funeral sermon and sings the doxology and thus the town lies buried from sorrow and free from all care.

The New Industrial Revolution

The world is on the threshold of a new Industrial Revolution.

The first was based on man's discovery that machines could serve him. But soon he was called to serve the machine and became their slave. Where that happened the revolution was soul-destroying. Its end was economic breakdown and the atom bomb.

In the new Industrial Revolution people are more important than things. Men regain their freedom. This revolution is soul restoring. It releases the full creativeness of all engaged in industry. It sets men free to give their best and will build the world that everyone is looking for.

There is a bigger choice in industry than between free enterprise and state control. The real battle line is between those who treat people as a means to a material end and those to whom the material and spiritual needs of people are the first concern. It is between those who fight for their own way, whatever the cost to others, and those who fight for the right way, whatever the cost to themselves.

The first Industrial Revolution was made possible by science, human skill and finance. The second can only come by change, change in the human heart. It may call for as much change in the heart of the capitalist as in the heart of the communist. It puts as much responsibility in the hands of the business men and labor leaders as in the hands of statesmen and military leaders.

The forgotten factor in industry is that God has a plan. It is a plan based, not on the limitations of the status quo, nor on atomic energy, but on the energy released when men are freed from greed and fear. It uses not only the visible, tangible resources of money and materials but also the mighty resources of the human heart and spirit.

Bullish and Bearish

Russia has promised to barter to Czechoslovakia under a new trade treaty 6,666,000 bushels of wheat. The first shipments of wheat, which arrived in Czechoslovakia recently were reported to contain grain from the Hungarian harvest.

Belgium's 1946-47 winter wheat acreage is now officially estimated at 116,000 acres and spring wheat at 55,000 acres compared with last year's acreage of 318,700 acres of winter wheat and 55,000 acres spring wheat. The winter wheat harvest in Central China was average but low yields are indicated in Northern China. The overall food outlook for South and Central China is improved over last year with famine neither as widely spread nor as acute.

Dwarf Bunt of Wheat (A Warning)

"Dwarf Bunt" is a smut disease of wheat. It is caused by a strain of the smut fungus which causes ordinary bunt or stinking smut of wheat. The most disturbing fact about Dwarf Bunt is that it cannot be controlled by seed treatment. It is carried over from year to year in the soil.

In recent years, Dwarf Bunt has become a real menace to wheat production in the Northwestern United States. Although Dwarf Bunt is not known with certainty to occur in Canada, its widespread and destructive occurrence in the States of Washington, Idaho, and Montana presents an immediate and serious threat to winter wheat production in Western Canada.

Symptoms. The symptoms caused by Dwarf Bunt are quite distinct from those of ordinary bunt or stinking smut of wheat. The most striking symptom of Dwarf Bunt is the marked dwarfing of the affected plants. Such plants may vary from three inches to twenty inches in height. It is this stunting of the plants which gives the disease its name. The heads of plants affected by Dwarf Bunt are bleached and usually curved and, instead of healthy kernels of grain, small round "bunt balls" are formed in the heads. The bunt balls caused by Dwarf Bunt are smaller and more firm than those of ordinary bunt.

Identification. All present and prospective growers of winter wheat in Western Canada should learn to identify Dwarf Bunt. If you can, there is no danger of sheltering this dangerous enemy on your farm. Furthermore, be sure that any seed you bring on your farm is free from all bunt infection. If you are in doubt, have your seed tested for smut by Line Elevators Farm Service, or some other reliable smut-testing laboratory. Get in touch with any Line Elevator agent and he will tell you how this can be done.

We urgently request farmers, grain buyers, and others to send specimens of Dwarf Bunt, or samples of any suspicious cases, to the nearest Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology (Winnipeg, Saskatoon, or Edmonton), or to Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg, for identification. We must not allow Dwarf Bunt to become established in Western Canada.

Do You Know The Difference

The farmer is constantly learning to distinguish between friends and foes, but when the two closely resemble each other some knowledge of details is needed before he can decide whether to kill or to let alone.

The Field Bindweed, one of the most serious weeds with which Alberta farmers have to contend, can be readily mistaken for another harmless and rather attractive wild flower, the Hedge Bindweed. Destruction of the Field Bindweed costs money and considerable patience. It is as well to be sure that it is the Field Bindweed you are attacking before going to the expense and trouble of attempting its eradication.

Once you know the difference between these two plants you will not be likely to mistake one for the other. Both Field Bindweed and Hedge Bindweed have the true morning glory flower, but the flower of the Field Bindweed (the bad one) is smaller than that of the Hedge Bindweed. The best way to tell the difference between these two is by the position of two small leaflets or bracts that grow on the flower stalk just below the flower. In the Field Bindweed these bracts are very small and are about a quarter to half an inch below the flower. On Hedge Bindweed they are much larger. They grow close to the flower and cover the lower part of the flower.

If you find any wild morning glory on your farm and are unable to tell whether it is the bad or harmless kind get in touch with your field supervisor or district agriculturist and have him show you the difference. If you find that it is Field Bindweed take steps to eradicate it right away.

Sleeping Powders for Potatoes

The sprouting of potatoes in storage causes loss to the potato grower. If he can encourage the tubers to prolong their sleep or dormancy period, the time during which he can keep them will be lengthened. A chemical with the long name of "Methyl Ester of Alpha Naphthalene Acetic Acid" is under test at Cornell University. The chemical induces slumber in potatoes and has been used experimentally for the past eight years to reduce or check sprout growth. In the fall of 1945 it was adopted and applied on a large scale by growers in New York State.

The response has been good. The treated tubers remained almost entirely without sprout growth until the entire crop was sold. The chemical has been applied in both spray and dust form but experience indicates the dust methods of application are the most practical. The bulletin reports that spray application results in irritation of the nose, skin and eyes. The spraying equipment is more complicated and more time is required to attach it to the bin loader and to maintain it properly in operation.

Further experimental work is under way but indications are that the use of this sleeping potion for potatoes may prove a boon to growers and provide another method of reducing waste of a valuable food crop.

OUR HALF ACRE

By J. G. Umbrite

Rotary Tillage Machinery

Rotary tillage machines are again making their appearance in this province and farmers will save themselves a great deal of trouble and loss if they take warning now.

H. J. Mather, supervisor of soil conservation and weed control remarks as follows regarding these machines. "We can't stress too strongly that rotary tillage machinery is not suitable for Alberta conditions. These implements grind up the soil through their rotary action and promote heavy soil losses."

Farmers are advised to ignore exaggerated claims as to the efficiency of these implements and to invest their money in machinery better suited to the soil and climatic conditions of this province.

Use Care in Hauling Grain

Farmers and truckers engaged in hauling grain are advised to use care, in order to prevent the spread of weed seeds and the wastage of grain. Many of our worst weeds are introduced into new districts by being blown off trucks that are passing through.

An extra board around the top of the truck or a tarpaulin over the load prevents to a great extent the scattering of weeds and also prevents the wastage of valuable grain.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

GOOD COMPANY

By GEORGE GRAHAM

"WELL, Joe, I'm going on my vacation next week, and I want you boys to stay on your good behavior while I'm away," said Sergeant Stevens with a good natured grin. He was a large, heavy set, genial man, head of the guards at the County Prison. All of the prisoners liked and respected Sergeant Stevens, for he was lenient and honest with them. He trusted them and treated them well, but was serious and completely conscientious about his job.

"Have a good time, sarge," said Joe Walsh, a trusty with six months time standing between himself and freedom. "What are you going to do with yourself?"

"I think I'll take a motor trip around the state," Sergeant Stevens said. "Like to see more of the country, after being couped up here with the rest of you boys all year."

"Sounds like a great idea," Joe said.

"Yeah!" answered the sergeant with a sad smile. "I'm only sorry I can't take you and some of the boys along. You make good company. Oh, well! Next year you should be out. Maybe we'll get together then."

"Sure, Sarge," Joe murmured. "Enjoy yourself."

When the sergeant let himself out of the cell block, Joe sat thinking, ignoring the other prisoners. He had never thought of escaping the prison while Sergeant Stevens was in charge and responsible for the men, but now Joe began to yearn for his freedom.

Three days after the sergeant left on vacation, Joe was assigned to the bean picking crew at the prison farm. That afternoon, while the guards made their rounds lazily in the hot sun, he climbed the fence and cut quickly through the woods. At the first town he passed, some quick thinking and acting rewarded him with a denim shirt, coveralls, a threadbare overcoat and a peak cap which had been hanging on the clothes line of one of the housewives. After a change he looked like one of the farmers or workmen. He breathed deeply of the warm breeze, as he walked down the side streets of the town, feeling free once again.

That evening he crawled into an empty coal car on a north-bound freight. As he watched the scenery flow swiftly by the open door and felt the wind in his face he sang a happy song. In a few days he would be several states away from the County Prison. While humming softly to himself, he fell asleep, lulled by the jolting rhythm of the wheels on the tracks.

"Hey you, hobo. C'mon, wake up." A voice, harsh and hard, grated in Joe's ears. A heavy foot tapping his shoulder awakened him more completely. He sat up slowly, blinked and yawned, and saw that the sun was shining brightly in the door of the freight car. The train had stopped on a siding, and outside was a pasture overgrown with weeds.

"What's the matter," Joe asked, trying to collect his senses. He looked up at the large man and noticed the holstered gun on his hip.

"I'm a railroad detective," the man said. "Get up. I'm going to take you down to the hoosegow. You know you're not allowed to ride the freights."

Joe's nerves jumped with nervous jitters, and he fought to keep his teeth from rattling. By now they would have heard of his escape at the local jail.

He pleaded with the detective in his most heart melting voice, begging to be given another chance, swearing he didn't know that he wasn't allowed to ride on the freight trains.

The detective tapped his gun significantly. "I hear that same story from every hobo we pick up," he said. "Now come along without any trouble."

Joe wearily stretched and stood up, while pictures of returning to the jail cell flowed through his mind. Each time he thought of the confinement, he added fresh and convincing pleas to those already submitted to the detective.

When he had given up all hope and made up his mind that he was hopelessly headed back to County Prison, the man softened. "I guess you're having a pretty hard time of it, travelling around the country this way. I'll let you off this time, but after this stay away from the trains."

"Gosh! Thanks, mister," said Joe gratefully, almost crying with relief. "You don't know how much this means to me. I'll stick to the highway after this." He heaved a deep, heartfelt sigh, and almost ran the short distance to the highway, for fear that the detective might change his mind.

The walk made him hungry, and as he realized how long it had been since his last meal he almost wished he was back at the prison, where the boys would be eating breakfast. "Oh well!" he thought, "Pretty soon I'll be far enough away that I can stop and find some food." His thumb flipped at the passing cars, and finally a sedan slowed down and pulled to the side of the road.

Joe opened the door quickly. "Going my way," he asked and relaxed in the comfortable seat.

"Sure, always glad to have good company," said the driver in a voice that seemed familiar to Joe.

"Thanks a lot," Joe said, but as he looked at the man, the smile faded suddenly from his face. He gulped and added sheepishly, "...Sarge!"

Canada May Import Bananas From Fiji

The islands of Fiji, in the South Pacific have hopes that the shipping of bananas to Canada, begun before the war, will soon be established on a regular and much expanded basis.

An initial shipment made recently was highly successful and a second consignment will be dispatched shortly.

Canadian purchasers are prepared to pay $2.95 a case at Suva. Whereas New Zealand buyers, who take the bulk of the crop, are offering only about $2. At these prices Canada will undoubtedly gain a priority in quality which will be necessary owing to the greater distance which the fruit must be shipped.

Fijian growers are confident that now the plantations are recovering from the neglect of the war years they can supply New Zealand's requirements and also build up an expanding and more lucrative trade with Canada as soon as shipping is available.

MOTORISTS PAY HEAVY FINES IN VANCOUVER

According to the Vancouver Province in the last three months Vancouver motorists have paid more than $68,000 into the city's coffers, most of which they did not expect to pay. Of this total $28,873 constituted fees for parking in downtown streets and $44,246 was made up of fines, mostly for exceeding the parking time limit. In May, drivers paid $8,000 for over-parking. The daily average of offenders is 165.

WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

Soil Erosion

The Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current in addition to its usual work, has made also during the past 20 years or so, some remarkable investigations into the use of moisture by the wheat plant. First under the direction of the late Sydney Barnes and now under the direction of the scientist, Dr. J. L. Doughty, some quite unexpected and unlooked for results have been found. One of these announced by Dr. Doughty recently at Lethbridge at the meeting of the agricultural institute, and which surprised most people, was to the effect that the present system of farming on these prairies is not causing, as some people think, a rapid deterioration of the soil. In other words, it would appear that if water erosion and wind erosion can be controlled that we can go on growing wheat and grains on these prairies for long, long periods of time without suffering from decline in yield per acre. This is a comforting thing to know, because so many people, particularly city people, think the so-called prairie wheat miners are rapidly exhausting the fertility of the soil and that in a few years these prairies will not be able to grow any more grain. So the so-called wheat-miner, it appears, can be absolved from blame.
